

OUR READERS

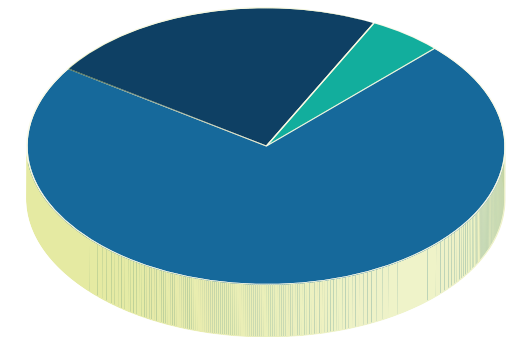

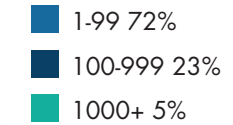

Architecture Leaders Today's 200,000 readers represent C-level executives from every aspect of the architecture industry. Whether its a major municipal or commercial project or a unique custom home project, we cover the story if it's compelling and of interest to our readers. Our readership includes architects, designers, developers, architectural consultants, engineers, general contractors, commercial and residential owners. Our readers are the CEOs and senior executives that are responsible for running the most successful companies in the architecture industry. They read our journal to gain additional insight into what is happening in their industry and to learn about external factors that may impact their business.

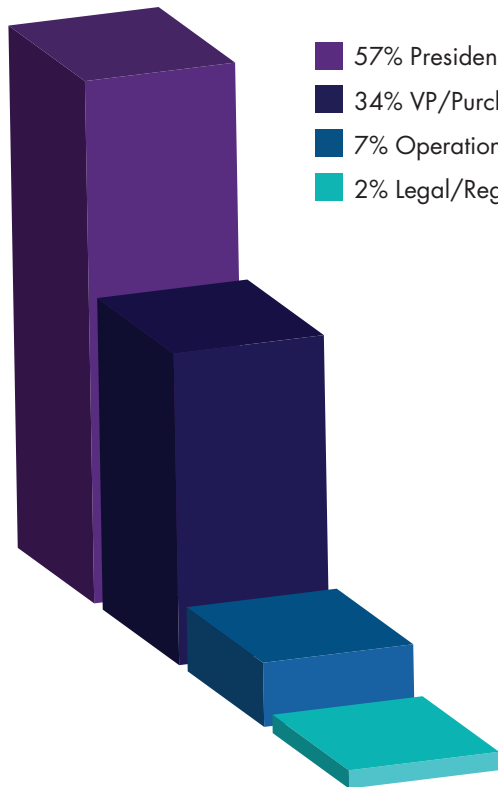

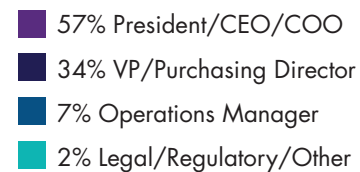

Company Size by Employee

Company Revenue $MM

Role of the Reader in their Organization

Print Readership by Region

Online Readership by Region

“

We feel honored to have such a beautiful and multipage spread in your magazine. It was a pleasure working with your company that not only has integrity but also created an impressive end result. We look forward to future collaborations with your company!

Margie Grace
Grace Design Associates
Summer 2010

”